Murray River & PS Emmylou Story

The side wheel paddlesteamers are distinctly Australian having first plied the Murray river in 1853, they established a thriving industry which survived until rail and roads began to service the region near the turn of the century. By 1873 there were 240 boats trading along the Murray River. The inland prospered as trade and commerce developed, and previously out of the way settlements were kept in touch with the cities.

With the introduction of the railway, the paddlesteamers and their industrious crews progressively lost work until the riverboat industry was but a shadow of it's illustrious past.

The Murray River which includes the Darling and Murrumbidgee rivers is one of the longest river systems in the world. Although weirs have cut down the navigability of the river, the Murray alone still claims 2508 kilometres of meandering waters.

PS Emmylou, the world's only wood-fired cruising paddlesteamer reminds us of the romantic days of the paddlesteamers and is now an Australian Icon of the River. Built locally during 1980-82 in the style of the 19th century paddlesteamers, she is perfectly at home at the Port of Echuca, residing with the last few remaining paddlesteamers of the past. She is 30 metres long and 10 metres wide, steel hulled and timber decked.

During 2018 PS Emmylou underwent a specially designed luxury upgrade and fit out. The new contemporary cabins and ensuites include fine linens topped with silky duvets, with the boats' premier cabin, the Emmylou Suite located on the front Upper Deck, with French Doors opening to a deck and 180 degree views of the river.

Guests can enjoy small boat boutique cruising at it's finest with just 16 guests comfortably accommodated in 8 deluxe cabins as PS Emmylou visits places of geographic, historic and Aboriginal cultural significance. Guests will also enjoy onshore tours visiting outstanding local wineries, dropping into local producers and accessing ancient world heritage Murray river tributaries aboard MV Kingfisher with an environmental specialist.

Onboard dining, prepared by the Emmylou's Chef, features local produce and wines from across the Heathcote and Perricoota wine regions. Riverside campfires are offered in the evenings, with stunning night skies to complete this unique experience.

We are proud to continue the tradition of overnight cruising on Australia's greatest waterway with our trademark level of country hospitality aboard an authentic paddlesteamer. We hope you can join us to connect you with Australia's inland history, geography, culture and cuisine.
